

URSULINE COLLEGE
CELEBRATING WOMEN'S HISTORY & OUR FUTURE

EXPRESS YOURSELF

Women's Voices for Justice in Art & Preaching

Chloe Becker

an artist committed to creating art for racial justice. She graduated from Magnificat High School in 2020, is currently taking a gap year, and will be attending Harvard University in the fall. In 2019, she painted a mural at her high school to strengthen the Catholic Church's voice against racism, which gained attention over social media.

Stories and Conversation with young women leaders
creating spaces
for their voices to be heard

MONDAY, MARCH 15, 2021
7:00 PM

ZOOM LINK HERE

Co-sponsored by Campus Ministry, Office of Diversity, Residence Life, Women's Center

For more information: Paula.Fitzgerald@ursuline.edu

Kayla August

a native of New Orleans with a passion for spreading love and justice. She serves the University of Notre Dame community as rector of an all-women's hall. She earned her bachelors from Loyola University of New Orleans, and served for two years with Americorps. She earned a master's degree in pastoral counseling and is now pursuing a Ph.D. in preaching. She shares her summers with kids in need of specialized care, especially those who are facing disease.